WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT CITIZEN INPUT TO THE REDISTRICTING PROCESS

General Information

- Redistricting occurs after every decennial census and citizens are encouraged to participate in the redistricting process by attending meetings, voicing their concerns and/or ideas, and submitting maps, comments and/or ideas.
- Why do we redistrict? The US Constitution, under the principle of "one person, one vote" requires districts from which we elect representatives be substantially equal in total census population. Because the population changes with each census, jurisdictions must review new population statistics and determine the extent to which population must be adjusted to meet the principle of "one person, one vote".
- The difference in "substantially equal" census population between districts should be less than 5% range. Previously the Department of Justice allowed variances up to 10%, however, recent court cases have reinforced lower percentages. Therefore, Gila County will be looking toward lower percentage variances.
- The official Census count of Gila County in 2010 was 53,597 persons
- Ideal district sizes and an example of variance allowances are:

District	Ideal Size	5% Variance	3% Variance	1% Variance
Supervisorial	17,866 people	893 people	535 people	179 people
Comm College	10,719 people	536 people	322 people	107 people
- To comply with the Federal Voting Rights Act, new districts cannot dilute the voting strength of racial or language minority populations as they exist in the present districts.
- Federal law prohibits Gila County from discriminating against minority citizens by weakening or eliminating their ability to elect their chosen candidates for office.
- Federal law requires that the U.S. Department of Justice approve all redistricting plans in Arizona, and in many other states, before the plans can be used and elections can take place. If the Department of Justice decides that Gila County's redistricting plan is discriminatory, they will not allow Gila County to use the discriminatory redistricting plan.
- Sometimes a majority of minorities live in a given district. This is called "minority majority". A statistical analysis using 2010 minority population Census numbers and past minority voting history will be performed on any plan submitted to ensure compliance with Voting Rights Act requirements.
- Examples of minority population issues to be considered include: Native American or Latino populations should not be split into multiple parts or crammed all into one area as that may dilute their voting strength.
- 2010 voting-age minority populations for Supervisorial Districts are:
 District 1 9.13%, District 2 30.16% (This district's minority population should not be reduced, pursuant to federal law)
 District 3 50.28% (This is a "minority-majority" district and minority voting strength cannot be diluted, according to federal law)
- 2010 voting-age minority populations for College Districts are:
 District 1 8.97%, District 2 10.91%, District 3 23.12%, District 4 35.12 % (This district's minority population should not be reduced, pursuant to federal law)
 District 5 76.31% (This is a "minority-majority" district and minority voting strength cannot be diluted, according to federal law)
- The statements "should not be reduced", and "cannot be diluted" do not mean that district populations cannot be moved or changed. What they mean is that in order to maintain minority voting strength, if a proposed map/SEE REDISTRICTING PAGE B-5
